

CAB INDEX VOLUME 68

The ABC and the Gulf War: Tiffen for the Defence: George Shipp comments on Rodney Tiffen's article, 'The Second Casualty: The ABC and the Gulf War', published in CAB, April 1991; and Shipp Overboard?: Rodney Tiffen responds to George Shipp's observations about his article; vol 68:3, August 1991, pp 19-26.

The Accord under Stress: Gwynneth Singleton reviews the background and rocky progress of the latest incomes accord between the Hawke Labor government and the ACTU; pics; vol 68:3, August 1991, pp 12-18.

Amnesty International: 30 Years Work on Behalf of Prisoners of Conscience: Robert V. Horn looks at Amnesty on its thirtieth birthday, and sees an effective organisation, working slow persistent miracles for many otherwise 'forgotten' political prisoners; pics; vol 68:4 September 1991, pp 12-16.

Anarchy in Somalia: Samuel Makinda recounts the tragic story of a country caught in a vicious circle of poverty and anarchy; pics, map; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 11-19.

Australian Art: A Review of Two Decades: Leon Paroissien surveys the state of Australian art and arts patronage since Gough Whitlam's injection of an unprecedented level of government funding and encouragement; pics; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 20-25.

Australian Soccer: 'Ethnic' or 'Aussie' – the Search for an Image: John Hughson looks at the recommendations of the Bradley Report and the future of Australian soccer; pics, table; vol 68:10, March 1992, pp 12-17.

The Australian Welfare Sector and the Recession: Philip Mendes reviews the tactics and effectiveness of the organisations and professions who seek to relieve and publicise the plight of the poor; pics; vol 68:4, September 1991, pp 17-21.

Australia's Language Policies: Are We Going Backwards?: Michael Clyne traces the history of language policies which have earned Australia an enviable international reputation until the latest, the White Paper Australia's Language, which has elements of a disquieting change of balance; pics; vol 68:6, November 1991, pp 13-20.

Burma: 'Hidden Paradise' or Paradise Lost: Andrew Selth argues that Burma's economic and strategic significance is so great that regional and world attention to its problems should not await another crisis like the brutal crushing of the pro-democracy movement in 1988; pics, map; vol 68:6, November 1991, pp 4-11.

Canberra's Econocrats and the Reform of Commonwealth/State Relations: Mark

Lyons expresses the concerns of many in the welfare and community services sector about the political agenda underlying the present reform of Commonwealth/State relations; cartoons, pic; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 12-19.

The End of Soviet Foreign Policy: Roderic Pitty examines the legacy of Soviet foreign policy for the new states emerging from the break-up of the Union; pics; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 4-10.

Eritrea: The Last to be Freed: Roy Pateman reviews Eritrea's thirty years of internecine warfare, dislocation and famine in its struggle to gain independence from Ethiopia, and speculates on the outcome of the latest developments; pics; map; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 4-11.

Deregulating Labour Law: New Zealand's Employment Contracts Act 1991: Gordon Anderson reports on the features and implications of the radical industrial relations reforms recently enacted in New Zealand; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 24-26.

Fact, Fantasy and Folktales: Trends in Children's Literature: Margot Hillel traces the development of books for children and discusses some trends in contemporary children's literature; pics; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 20-27.

Famine: The Economics and Politics of the Food Crisis in Africa: David Dorward turns attention from the all too familiar images of catastrophic famine in Africa to the less dramatic and more intractable underlying causes; pics, table; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 4-11.

France: see The Mitterrand Presidency.

The Future of the United Nations: Keith Suter assesses the role and prospects for the UN in the New World Order; pics, diagram; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 10-19.

The Great Consumption Tax Debate: Myths and Misconceptions, Truths and Half-Truths: Rick Kreyer attempts to sort out truth from half-truth and shows that the current consumption tax dialogue is based as much on myths and misconceptions as it is on facts and accuracy; cartoons; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 4-9.

Humanitarian Intervention: Morally Right, Legally Wrong?: Hugh Smith assesses the pros, cons and prospects for humanitarian intervention, defined as the coercive interference in another country in order to protect its citizens from their own government; pics, table; vol 68:4, September 1991, pp 4-11.

India's Political Agenda 1991: Robert W. Stern reviews the agenda of Congress (I), ruling again, precariously, after an election replete with tragedies, the assassination of Rajiv Gandhi being only the most publicised and politically consequential; map, pics; vol 68:5, October 1991, pp 13-19.

Industrial Relations in Australia... A Liberal View: John Howard looks at the implications of the rejection by the federal Labor government and the ACTU of the recent national wage case, and presents the case for adoption of the Opposition's industrial relations program; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 12-16.

Industrial Relations in Australia... A Labor Perspective: Jeff Shaw reviews the points of consensus and conflict in industrial relations policy, and argues the need for a sensible and co-operative Labor policy; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 17-23.

Industrial Relations: see also The Accord under Stress; Deregulating Labour Law.

Japan: see A New Order in Asia?

The Long March to the Clever Country: David Craig discusses the sciences in Australia, and looks where the promise of support – as captured by politicians and the media in the 'clever country' theme – might take us; vol 68:2, July 1991, pp 22-26.

Media: see The ABC and the Gulf War. Broadcasting Battle Brews (Current Note), Kerry Packer in Parliament (Current Note).

MIRVed Missiles and Strategic Stability: John Forge and Sverre Myhra examine the history and likely future of MIRVs; pics, table, diagram; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 19-26.

The Mitterrand Presidency: An Assessment: Richard DeAngelis evaluates ten years of socialist-led government in France; pics, tables; vol 68:12, May 1992, pp 4-12.

A New Order in Asia? Japan's Uncertain Role: Masaru Tamamoto considers Japan's role in Asia and in relation to the USA in a post-Cold War world; pics; vol 68:12, May 1992, pp 13-22.

The Protection of Australian Industry: Intervention or Laissez-Faire?: Robert Castle records the history of industry protection up to the March 1991 announcement that tariffs would be phased out, and presents the case for and against this and other protective measures; pics; vol 68:5, October 1991, pp 20-25.

Public Inquiries: Their Use and Abuse: Scott Prasser highlights the characteristics and trends in the use of public inquiries in Australia; tables; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 4-12.

Pubs and Violence: Violence, Public Drinking and Public Policy: Ross Homel and Steve Tomsen report on their research which shows the extent and causes of pub violence in Australia, and suggest appropriate reforms; pics; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 20-27.

The Privatisation of Our Common Life: The ALP and the Commonwealth Bank: Helen Pringle examines the implications of Labor's privatisation plans; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 13-18.

CAB INDEX VOLUME 68

The ABC and the Gulf War: Tiffen for the Defence: George Shipp comments on Rodney Tiffen's article, 'The Second Casualty: The ABC and the Gulf War', published in CAB, April 1991; and Shipp Overboard?: Rodney Tiffen responds to George Shipp's observations about his article; vol 68:3, August 1991, pp 19-26.

The Accord under Stress: Gwynneth Singleton reviews the background and rocky progress of the latest incomes accord between the Hawke Labor government and the ACTU; pics; vol 68:3, August 1991, pp 12-18.

Amnesty International: 30 Years Work on Behalf of Prisoners of Conscience: Robert V. Horn looks at Amnesty on its thirtieth birthday, and sees an effective organisation, working slow persistent miracles for many otherwise 'forgotten' political prisoners; pics; vol 68:4 September 1991, pp 12-16.

Anarchy in Somalia: Samuel Makinda recounts the tragic story of a country caught in a vicious circle of poverty and anarchy; pics, map; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 11-19.

Australian Art: A Review of Two Decades: Leon Paroissien surveys the state of Australian art and arts patronage since Gough Whitlam's injection of an unprecedented level of government funding and encouragement; pics; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 20-25.

Australian Soccer: 'Ethnic' or 'Aussie' – the Search for an Image: John Hughson looks at the recommendations of the Bradley Report and the future of Australian soccer; pics, table; vol 68:10, March 1992, pp 12-17.

The Australian Welfare Sector and the Recession: Philip Mendes reviews the tactics and effectiveness of the organisations and professions who seek to relieve and publicise the plight of the poor; pics; vol 68:4, September 1991, pp 17-21.

Australia's Language Policies: Are We Going Backwards?: Michael Clyne traces the history of language policies which have earned Australia an enviable international reputation until the latest, the White Paper Australia's Language, which has elements of a disquieting change of balance; pics; vol 68:6, November 1991, pp 13-20.

Burma: 'Hidden Paradise' or Paradise Lost: Andrew Selth argues that Burma's economic and strategic significance is so great that regional and world attention to its problems should not await another crisis like the brutal crushing of the pro-democracy movement in 1988; pics, map; vol 68:6, November 1991, pp 4-11.

Canberra's Econocrats and the Reform of Commonwealth/State Relations: Mark

Lyons expresses the concerns of many in the welfare and community services sector about the political agenda underlying the present reform of Commonwealth/State relations; cartoons, pic; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 12-19.

The End of Soviet Foreign Policy: Roderic Pitty examines the legacy of Soviet foreign policy for the new states emerging from the break-up of the Union; pics; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 4-10.

Eritrea: The Last to be Freed: Roy Pateman reviews Eritrea's thirty years of internecine warfare, dislocation and famine in its struggle to gain independence from Ethiopia, and speculates on the outcome of the latest developments; pics; map; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 4-11.

Deregulating Labour Law: New Zealand's Employment Contracts Act 1991: Gordon Anderson reports on the features and implications of the radical industrial relations reforms recently enacted in New Zealand; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 24-26.

Fact, Fantasy and Folktales: Trends in Children's Literature: Margot Hillel traces the development of books for children and discusses some trends in contemporary children's literature; pics; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 20-27.

Famine: The Economics and Politics of the Food Crisis in Africa: David Dorward turns attention from the all too familiar images of catastrophic famine in Africa to the less dramatic and more intractable underlying causes; pics, table; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 4-11.

France: see The Mitterrand Presidency.

The Future of the United Nations: Keith Suter assesses the role and prospects for the UN in the New World Order; pics, diagram; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 10-19.

The Great Consumption Tax Debate: Myths and Misconceptions, Truths and Half-Truths: Rick Kreyer attempts to sort out truth from half-truth and shows that the current consumption tax dialogue is based as much on myths and misconceptions as it is on facts and accuracy; cartoons; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 4-9.

Humanitarian Intervention: Morally Right, Legally Wrong?: Hugh Smith assesses the pros, cons and prospects for humanitarian intervention, defined as the coercive interference in another country in order to protect its citizens from their own government; pics, table; vol 68:4, September 1991, pp 4-11.

India's Political Agenda 1991: Robert W. Stern reviews the agenda of Congress (I), ruling again, precariously, after an election replete with tragedies, the assassination of Rajiv Gandhi being only the most publicised and politically consequential; map, pics; vol 68:5, October 1991, pp 13-19.

Industrial Relations in Australia... A Liberal View: John Howard looks at the implications of the rejection by the federal Labor government and the ACTU of the recent national wage case, and presents the case for adoption of the Opposition's industrial relations program; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 12-16.

Industrial Relations in Australia... A Labor Perspective: Jeff Shaw reviews the points of consensus and conflict in industrial relations policy, and argues the need for a sensible and co-operative Labor policy; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 17-23.

Industrial Relations: see also The Accord under Stress; Deregulating Labour Law.

Japan: see A New Order in Asia?

The Long March to the Clever Country: David Craig discusses the sciences in Australia, and looks where the promise of support – as captured by politicians and the media in the 'clever country' theme – might take us; vol 68:2, July 1991, pp 22-26.

Media: see The ABC and the Gulf War. Broadcasting Battle Brews (Current Note), Kerry Packer in Parliament (Current Note).

MIRVed Missiles and Strategic Stability: John Forge and Sverre Myhra examine the history and likely future of MIRVs; pics, table, diagram; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 19-26.

The Mitterrand Presidency: An Assessment: Richard DeAngelis evaluates ten years of socialist-led government in France; pics, tables; vol 68:12, May 1992, pp 4-12.

A New Order in Asia? Japan's Uncertain Role: Masaru Tamamoto considers Japan's role in Asia and in relation to the USA in a post-Cold War world; pics; vol 68:12, May 1992, pp 13-22.

The Protection of Australian Industry: Intervention or Laissez-Faire?: Robert Castle records the history of industry protection up to the March 1991 announcement that tariffs would be phased out, and presents the case for and against this and other protective measures; pics; vol 68:5, October 1991, pp 20-25.

Public Inquiries: Their Use and Abuse: Scott Prasser highlights the characteristics and trends in the use of public inquiries in Australia; tables; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 4-12.

Pubs and Violence: Violence, Public Drinking and Public Policy: Ross Homel and Steve Tomsen report on their research which shows the extent and causes of pub violence in Australia, and suggest appropriate reforms; pics; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 20-27.

The Privatisation of Our Common Life: The ALP and the Commonwealth Bank: Helen Pringle examines the implications of Labor's privatisation plans; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 13-18.

Remaking the Australian Constitution: Richard Cullen looks at how and why we might remake the Constitution to better cope with the demands of the 21st century; cartoon; vol 68:12, May 1992, pp 23-28.

Resource Security Legislation and National Environment Policy: New Objectives, Old Dynamics: Nicholas Economou argues that the short-term reactive dynamics that dominated the old approach to land-use policy are still discernible in the RSL initiative; pics, tables; vol 68:10, March 1992, pp 18-26.

The Scientific Basis for our Drink-Driving Laws: Why We Can't Approach Cannabis and Prescription Drugs in the Same Way: Greg Chesher explains how the unique properties of alcohol make easily measurable and legally enforceable drink-driving laws possible; pics, figures; vol 68:10, March 1992, pp 4-11.

Somalia: See Anarchy in Somalia.

South Africa: Retrospect and Prospect: Paul Nurse-Bray looks at the background and prognosis, the players and their agenda, in the high cost, high hope process of reforming South Africa; pics; vol 68:2, July 1991, pp 4-11.

The Soviet Coup: Background and Prospects: Graeme Gill traces the history of the Soviet coup and charts the shift in power relations which was both its genesis and legacy; vol 68:5, pics, cartoon; October 1991, pp 4-11.

Soviet: see also The End of Soviet Foreign Policy.

State, Nation and Diversity in Australia: D.L. Jayasuriya traces the history of ethnic relations in Australia and presents a case for revamping multiculturalism, now under pressure from the economic and demographic changes of the 1980s; vol 68:6, November 1991, pp 21-26.

Uranium Policy and the Economy: Ciaran O'Faircheallaigh evaluates the economic benefits likely to be generated by an expansion of uranium mining, and assesses the contribution the industry might make to solving Australia's economic problems; pics, tables; vol 68:3, August 1991, pp 4-11.

War Crimes and the Gulf War: Brian Opeskin and Shelley Wright undertake a comprehensive analysis of alleged war crimes committed during the Gulf War, and assess whether and how the perpetrators might be prosecuted under international law; pics; vol 68:2, July 1991, pp 12-21.

Current Notes

Abandoning Business Migration: The Baby with the Bathwater?: Constance Lever-Tracy argues that the Public Accounts Committee inquiry recommendation that the Business Migration Program be scrapped was premature; vol 68:3, August 1991, pp 27-28.

Aboriginal Social Justice – the Case for an Independent Commissioner: Pierre James argues that the needs of Aboriginal Australians differ so much from those of migrants that there should be a special Commissioner appointed within, but independent of, the Human Rights Commission; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 27-28.

The Australian Defence Forces Structure Review: Graeme Cheeseman questions whether the Review's proposals are likely to deliver a more effective Defence Force; vol 68:4, September 1991, pp 27-28.

Broadcasting Battle Brews: The Broadcasting Services Bill 1992: Anne Davies scrutinises the controversial and sweeping changes proposed to the regulation of broadcasting in Australia; vol 68:12, May 1992, pp 29-30.

Health Care and the Market: Ian W. Webster looks at the implications of moves to invoke a market approach in solving the problems of cost containment in health services; vol 68:5, October 1991, pp 27-28.

Independents in Decline?: Ernie Chaples reviews election results from NSW, Tasmania and the ACT, to assess whether the electorate's flirtation with independents is likely to be consummated; vol 68:10, March 1992, pp 27-30.

Kerry Packer in Parliament: Rodney Tiffen reviews Kerry Packer's dramatic and revealing appearance before the Parliamentary Inquiry into the Print Media; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 26-27.

The Madrid Solution to Antarctica: The End of the Antarctic Minerals Debate?: Donald R. Rothwell reports on negotiations over the control of mineral resources in the Antarctic; vol 68:2, July 1991, pp 27-29.

Multiculturalism, Minorities and the Law: Maurice Rickard assesses the arguments for and against granting cultural minorities special consideration in the legal treatment of certain otherwise illegal cultural and religious practices; vol 68:6, November 1991, pp 27-29.

Racist Violence: A Critique of the Report of the National Inquiry into Racist Violence in Australia: Pierre James reviews the report on racist violence and finds its undoubted value to be disappointingly reduced by some methodological flaws; vol 68:4, September 1991, pp 22-26.

Recurrent Education – Providing for Adult Learners: Mike King takes up the 'clever country' theme in arguing for greater and more flexible options for mature age students; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 28-29.

The United States and the Soviet Union: Nuclear Arms Control Initiatives: Roy Fernandez reports on some of the proposals put forward by Presidents Bush and Gorbachev; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 28-29.

What Went Wrong for Greiner?: Ernie Chaples assesses the 25 May 1991 election in NSW; vol 68:1, June 1991, pp 26-29.

Book Reviews

Australian Cultural Theory: Carol Johnson reviews Andrew Milner, Contemporary Cultural Theory, and Janeen Baxter, Michael Emmison & John Weston (eds), Class Analysis and Contemporary Australia; vol 68:6, November 1991, pp 29-30.

Business Mates: Peter Mayer reviews Doug McEachem, Business Mates: The Power and Politics of the Hawke Era; vol 68:5, October 1991, pp 29-30.

China: Making History and Doing Business: Michael Sullivan reviews Bill Purves, Barefoot in the Boardroom, and Jonathon Unger (ed.), The Pro-Democracy Protests in China: Reports from the Provinces; vol 68:10, March 1992, pp 30-31.

Economic Rationalism in Canberra: Kerry Schott reviews Michael Pusey, Economic Rationalism in Canberra: A Nation-Building State Changes its Mind; vol 68:7, December 1991, pp 30-31.

Hawke and Keating Revisited: Richard Hughes reviews Stan Anson, Hawke: An Emotional Life, and Edna Carew, Paul Keating: Prime Minister; vol 68:12, May 1992, pp 30-31.

Liberty, Equality... Language!: Wayne Cristaudo reviews Alastair Davidson & Roger D. Spegele, Rights, Justice and Democracy in Australia, and Beth Gaze & Melinda Jones, Law, Liberty and Australian Democracy; vol 68:4, September 1991, pp 29-30.

Multifunction Utopia? Coral Baines reviews Gavan McCormack (ed.), Bonsai Australia Banzai: The Multifunction Polis and the Making of a Special Relationship with Japan, and Walter Hamilton, Serendipity City: Australia, Japan and the Multifunction Polis; vol 68:3, August 1991, pp 29-30.

The Price of Health: Paul Dugdale reviews James A. Gillespie, The Price of Health: Australian Governments and Medical Politics 1910-1960; vol 68:9, February 1992, pp 29-30.

Secrets: Greg McCarthy reviews Fia Cumming, Mates: Five Champions of the Labor Right, and John Pilger, A Secret Country; vol 68:2, July 1991, pp 30-31.

"What Do They Know of Cricket Who Only Cricket Know?": Bob Howard reviews C.L.R. James, Beyond the Boundary, Simon Barnes, A La Recherche du Cricket Perdu, and Frank Crook, Talking Cricket; vol 68:8, January 1992, pp 28-30.

The Yellow Lady: Lenore Coltheart reviews Alison Broinowski, The Yellow Lady: Australian Impressions of Asia; vol 68:11, April 1992, pp 30-31.